The IQAC coordinator welcomed the Principal and all the Heads of department and members. The following points were discussed in a meeting held on 14/12/2022.

1. Planning for organizing Faculty Development Programmes

Dr. V. J. Gond discussed the strategic planning for upcoming Faculty Development Programmes. IQAC members emphasis was placed on identifying relevant topics, scheduling sessions, and selecting expert trainers. The goal is to enhance faculty skills, promote innovative teaching methods, and ensure impactful training sessions to improve institutional quality and academic excellence.

2. Discussion on organizing value added programmes for students

Firstly Dr. V. P. Wani sir insightfully elaborates the value-added programmes importance in student's carrier and their impact on outcome-based education to all IQAC members. After that, members discussed strategies to organize value-added programs for students. Focused on enhancing employability skills, industry exposure, and holistic development. Suggestions included workshops, certifications, and seminars. Dr. D. P. Kadam highlighted the importance of aligning programs with industry needs to ensure student growth and institutional excellence.

3. Discussion on mentoring of students to go for research publications.

Dr. P. M. Yawalkar and Dr. S. V. Gumaste intensively explain the critical role of mentoring students for research publications. They highlighted the importance of faculty guiding students in identifying research topics, developing research proposals, and enhancing their academic writing skills. The session underscored that effective mentoring fosters a research-oriented mindset, encouraging students to publish in reputed journals. Strategies discussed included regular supervision, providing access to research resources, and organizing workshops on research methodology and publication ethics. The IQAC meeting aimed to create a supportive environment that motivates students to pursue quality research, thereby improving institutional academic standards and contributing to the broader academic community through their publications.

4. Any other point for discussion with the permission of chair.

Dr. Utkarsha Mohite expressed a view that many of the students lag in communication skills. She suggested initiating activities to improve soft skills, communication skills, personality development and confidence building activities.
